CIRCULAR

Dear Parents,

It is very important to remember that children look to adults for guidance on how to react to stressful situations about the spread of coronavirus. You are requested to teach children positive preventive measures, talking with them about their fears, and giving them a sense of some control over their risk of infection can help reduce anxiety.

Limit television viewing or access to information on the net or social media
Keep a regular schedule, as this can be reassuring and promotes physical health.
We are committed to sharing resources to help engage students, parents and families. We will provide learning resources through snap homework or what's app as additional support to families.

Students can make use of file papers, rule sheets or old copies for online work given to them by teachers.

These resources are not a substitute for in-class instruction, but rather a first step in promoting learning-based activities, and will be updated as we move forward.

We know there are more questions and we remain committed to sharing information. You may visit our website for further information

Please continue to practice safe social distancing.

Stay Safe, Stay Healthy
